

What to See in November
-- Botanical Gardens at Asheville -- (blooms, berries, and foliage)

Listed below are the native species expected to look for in the Botanical Gardens at Asheville in November. Actual bloom times and peak foliage depend on annual local weather patterns.

Blooms:

Hamamelis virginiana
Lychnis alba
Prunella vulgaris
Tribolium repens
Verbascum thapsus

Witch Hazel
White Campion
Self-Heal
White Clover
Pink Mullein

Berries:

Arisaema triphyllum

Cornus alternifolia
Ilex opaca
Ilex verticillata
Medeola virginiana
Phytolacca americana
Similacina racemosa

Jack in the Pulpit
Beauty Berry
Dogwood
American Holly
Winterberry
Indian Cucumber Root
Pokeweed
False Solomon's Seal

Foliage:

Cornus florida
Acer saccharum
Sassafras albidum
Acer rubrum

Quercus coccinea

Dogwood
Sugar Maple
Sassafras
Red Maple
Blueberry
Scarlet Oak